TiO2 and Mineral Sands: Get a Preview of 3Q20 Results

The October issue of the Ti Observer™ Insights – now available – does a deep dive into import statistics and commentary from industry participants and analysts – projecting the results of the third quarter and providing our take on 4Q20 and 2021.

It's the perfect complement to our recent Mineral Sands and TiO2 Forecast, providing visuals to adjust the outlook moving forward.

TiPMC sees some hidden factors that are not apparent at first glance.

- Why does North America continue to strengthen, despite the ongoing pandemic? What makes it sustainable, and what are the risks?
- Where is the increase in Chinese exports heading, and how will it impact global pricing?
- Recovery in the majority of Asia is well ahead of the rest of the world. Who gains and who loses? The answer will surprise most readers.
- Why is one plant impacting the feedstock market more than any other?
- How does the lack of a feedstock cycle impact the TiO2 market going forward? It is more complicated than most believe. We break it down for our readers.
